Can City Hall Stand Across the Board Raises?

It appears that everyone on the City payroll deserves a raise, (some more than others) but then, no one is quite sure from where the money will come. This problem faced the City Council at their meeting last night at the City Hall.

As the Council promised last Wednesday night, the City department heads came before the members to present their recommendations for salary increases.

Each department had very good reasons for these requests, and true, the City employees of Carmel are doing a magnificent job, but whether they will get their increases (all that was asked) is another question. The Council recognized that the employees were due their raises but will know more about how much by next week's meeting.

However, there were a few notes of disagreement with these requests. Councilman Norberg felt that according to other cities of comparable population the present salaries were in accordance and pointed out that this is the price one has to pay when living in Carmel. He went further to say that, in addition, working conditions here are much better than those of the adjoining areas.

Mayor Steve Grant said, "Across the board raises are good for bad workers . . . but bad for good workers" indicating that merit raises would be more in order than the across the board increases which had been applied for by the department heads.

As the council considered further where the City will get the money for the 1967-68 budget, Councilman Herb Blanks brought out that with the new Del Monte Center in Monterey opening this year, with a projected $160,000 sales volume, "sales taxes in Carmel might not be up to last year's taxes." He said that the Council should consider this, among other things, before making any concrete decisions about spending for next year.

Then in the face of "where's the money gonna come from" the thought about urban forests came to light after the Public Works spokesman requested the continuance of the program which had been approved by the Council. This would require considerable money, but it is definitely in the interest of Carmel's identity.

Judging by the solemn looks on the faces of all the councilmen, their subtle nods, and barely audible grunts of approval, this request might have a chance of survival in the coming budget.

Before the council adjourned, they asked for a computation from the City Administrator of a 6% increase across the board with normal step increases and special recognition of merit raises, all of which the department heads had requested at the offset of the meeting. This will be considered at the study session next week.

School Board Listens To Students

At the regular meeting of the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education last night Board members were enlightened as to what at least three students of Carmel High School felt were the faults with the school systems, on the Peninsula.

The three girls had been enrolled in a special class called High School Student Teaching Program headed by Mrs. Bottero, who teaches at Palo Colorado School. One of the students has been an assistant teacher for two periods a day for the past year at the Palo Colorado School and stated that because of this experience she wanted to become a teacher. The other two students had made a study of the different school systems and both felt that the schools were far too regulated and that to have really creative learning in the classrooms, an informal atmosphere was needed.

Board member, Dr. Bialek stated at the end of the reports that these were "the clearest statements of educational philosophy that I have heard in the three years I have been on this board."

Clayton Neill, board member, said that he felt that "we should meet with students as a regular

With fear and trembling the Monterey Peninsula awaits the influx of the "Flower Children" who will start arriving for their most important musical event of the year, the Monterey International Pop Festival to be held at the Monterey County Fair Grounds this weekend. It will be interesting to see whether this event will hold "love and sunshine" for Carmel residents as well as the visitors attending the Festival.

Carmel's "Greatest Muckraker" Will Be Honored Saturday

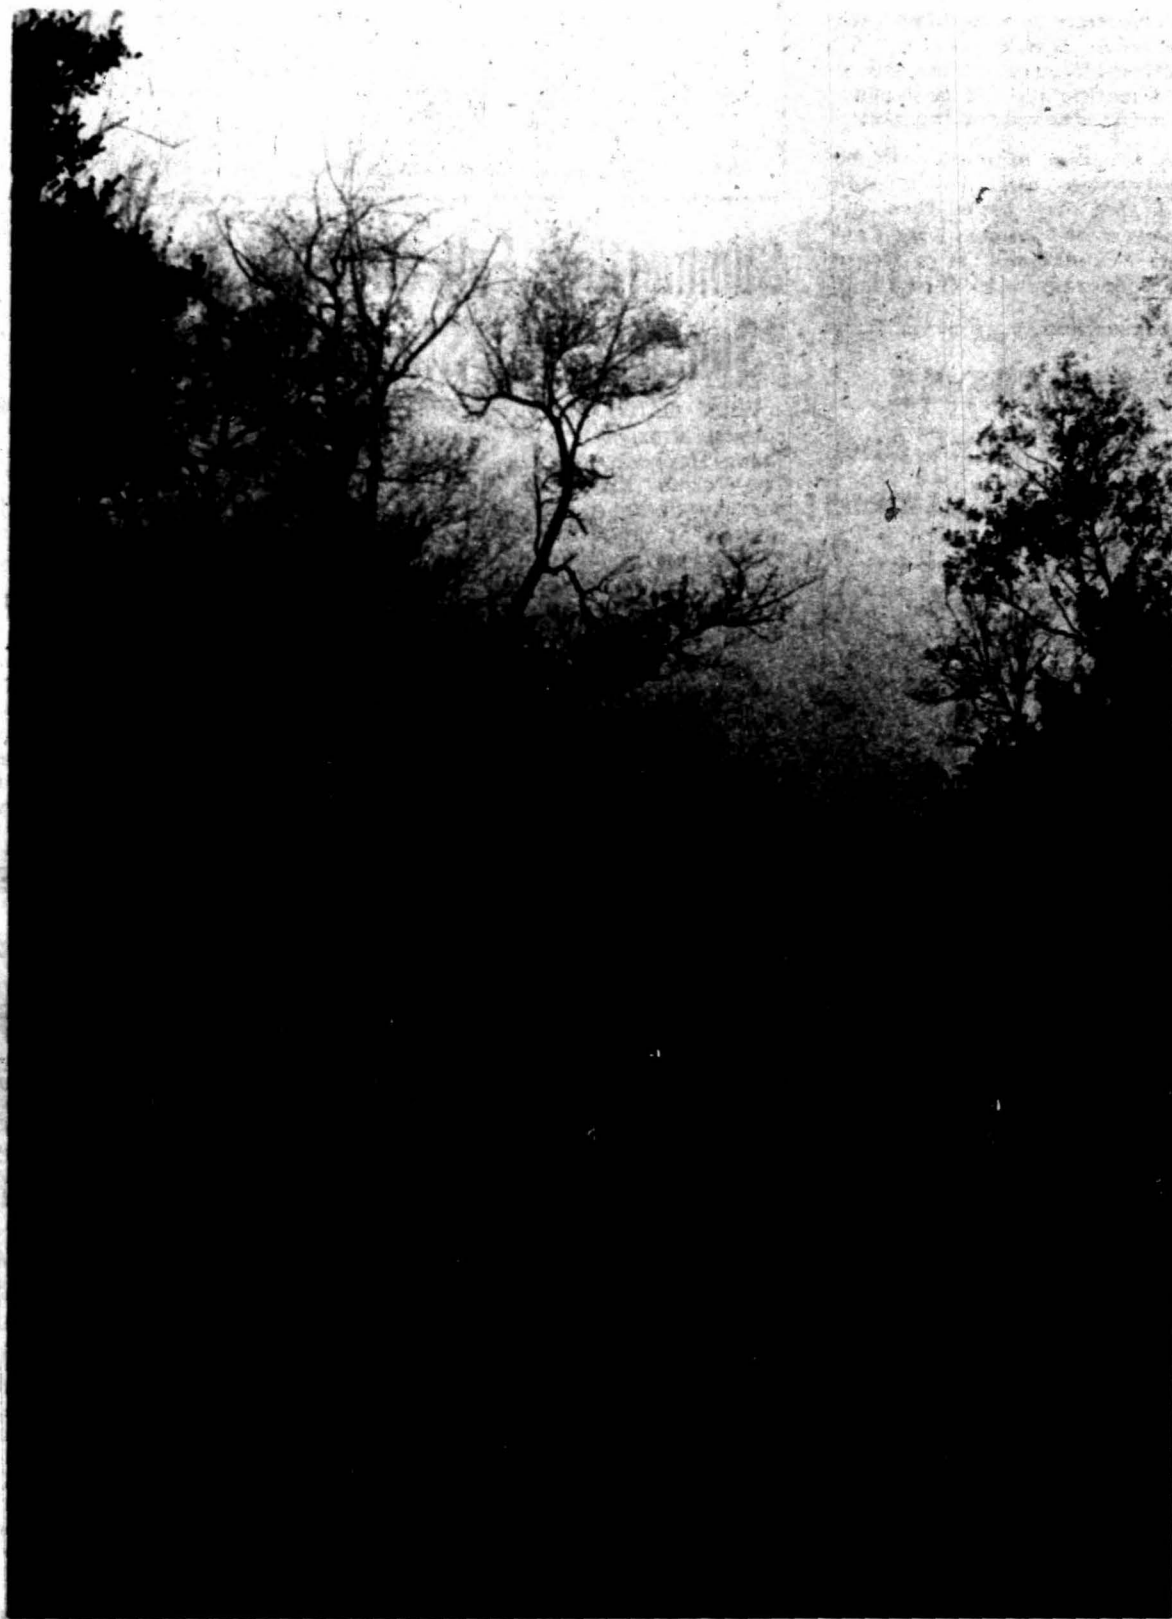

Whether they believed in some of his political philosophies or not, there are many Carmelites who plan to be on hand Saturday afternoon when a bronze plaque is dedicated to the memory of the late Lincoln Steffens, "the great muckraker."

The dedication, jointly sponsored by the Sigma Delta Chi Fraternity, a professional journalistic group, and its Northern California chapter, will take place at "The Getaway," Steffens' last home which is located on San Antonio Avenue.

Several notables among the many who knew the late author, editor and exposé of political graft will be on hand for the event which will begin with a luncheon in Carmel's LaPlaya Hotel at noon, then will move to the gray frame house in which Steffens died in 1936.

His son, Pete, now a professor of journalism in the University of California in Berkeley, will take part, and so will Dr. R. A. Kocher of Carmel and Mrs. Kocher who, through the years, has kept and preserved the wrought iron sign

Council Differs With Commission On Illegal Rentals

To try finally to set the city records straight about the illegal motels in the R-1 District, a special committee of the City Council met Monday evening with the Planning Commission to thrash out any differences of opinions on how to handle this age old problem.

Councilmen Herb Blanks and Eben Whittlesey tried to sway the Commission members over to their way of thinking, not having too much success.

The Planning Commission listened calmly to the pleas by Blanks and Whittlesey, but did not seem to change their opinions to any great degree . . . they still favor the use permit route.

Blanks and Whittlesey worked with City Attorney William Burleigh to draft an ordinance establishing an R-1-L District for limited motel use in the R-1 District.

The ordinance recognized the fact that there are many motels which have existed for years in the residential district of the City and that there has been little done in the past in recognizing or eliminating uses of this nature.

The ordinance also stated that the City Council desires to prohibit further expansion of these lodging houses, but felt those in existence should remain status quo. The ordinance provided that any remodeling, reconstruction or alterations shall be permitted on a conditional use permit basis.

The councilmen feel that spot zoning would "wipe the slate clean" and finally recognize these motels as being legal, putting each of the eleven motels into one category. Also, that the Planning Commission would still have the power to approve the changes according to the ordinances of the city. Banks said, "If you don't approve of any of the articles in the draft, we can work the problems out of the ordinance."

The Commission nodded in ap-

Carmel Hi Graduation Saturday

Beginning Friday at 6 p.m. there will be over 200 students marching onto Bardarson Field to the beat of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" as they prepare to be graduated from Carmel High School.

Once the Carmel High School Band ends its processional march song, and the future graduates take their places, the Invocation will be delivered by the Reverend David St. Leger Hill, after which the Salute to the Flag, led by Douglas Mapson, will be heard. The graduates and audience will then join in singing the Star Spangled Banner.

Josephine Bow, selected as Class Speaker, will deliver her address, "The Development of Youth's Responsibilities." She will be followed by Salutatorian Adriann Ricupero

The Knack At White Oaks

by Walter Roth

"THE KNACK" the current offering at the White Oaks Theater, deals with the second of Webster's definitions, an aptness or skill in doing something. And that is what it is—the knack of winning—and seducing—girls and women. But let's not get ahead of the story.

The Knack, by Ann Jellicoe, billed as an adult comedy, deals with the topic which undoubtedly is quite modern in its open and frank portrayal of that which our parents and grandparents tried to keep from us. Tolin, an apartment dweller in San Francisco (played by Michael Riordan) boasts of his conquests and demonstrates them so capably that his landlord Colin (David Wynne) and another tenant, Tom, (Ron Stark) are so envious that they try to emulate him—with many interesting comedy-like frustrations.

This situation is all the more involved when Nancy, (Katie Russell) a perky, lithesome and attractive 18 year old, fresh from outside the city, happens by looking for the YWCA. Naturally all three attempt to help her—with many complications and some uncertainties.

Shirley Eoff, who directed the play, admitted that she wore asbestos lined gloves and each player in turn, when interrogated, admitted that he was sprayed in advance with DDT and 24D and had Chlorox in his bath water.

The set is an interesting portrayal of what the modern youth might have—or like to have—in these days of mods, hippies and so forth. The character portrayal for each part reveals an effective rendition of the swaggering, self-assured and on-to-himself Tolin; the frustrated hungry, inept landlord Colin; the youthful, questions-pling, uninhibited Tom, pulling many a wisecrack which reveals the effective timing so important in a play such as this, and then, of course, the pert, perky, luscious, delicious Nancy—but go see it for yourself.

Summertime Full of "Fun" And "Sunshine" At Studio Theatre

With "Little Mary Sunshine" running alternately with "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum" from June 23 to Labor Day, the tenth summer musical season at the Studio Theatre Restaurant in Carmel offers a study in contrasts. Beyond catchy tunes and bright costumes, the two shows are completely unlike.

"Little Mary Sunshine," written and composed with tongue in cheek by Rick Besoyan, harks back to the operettas of an earlier era when every Jeanette MacDonald was marshmallow sweet and every Nelson Eddy was Little Lord Fauntleroy in a Mountie hat. Its simple plot has virtue triumphant, evil undone and lovers united. An off-Broadway hit of the 1959-60 season, it ran for several years in New York and has since been widely played throughout the country. Whether taken at face value or as satire, "Little Mary Sunshine" is delectable entertainment for the entire family.

"A Funny Thing," in contrast, resuming a run at the Studio started last winter, is a raucous, rowdy low-comedy burlesque of life in ancient Rome. Its cast of patricians, slaves, soldiers, eunuchs, courtesans and dancing girls engages in some of the most hilarious antics ever put on stage. With Zero Mostel in the lead, "A Funny Thing" enlivened Broadway for nearly 1,000 performances and captured five Tony awards.

Both musicals are directed and staged by Michael Keller, with costumes by Judy Evans and settings and lighting by Bob Evans, Jr. "Little Mary Sunshine" will run the weekend of June 23 and "A Funny Thing" the weekend of June 30, including Monday, July 3. Thereafter the two musicals will play nightly except Monday in alternate weeks until Labor Day, excluding July 4. Reservations for dinner and show or show only may be made by calling 624-1661 or 624-2321.

Carmel, Calif.
Gentlemen:

Kindly run the attached ad in your June 8th issue, under houses for sale.

I have owned property in Carmel for years and want to compliment you on the fine improvements in your paper. There are many new features of interest to readers, particularly: the weather, the photos, the golf coverage, the art news and gallery information, the feature travel and other articles, the cartoons, etc. I notice this improvement in the quality of the newspaper has resulted in more advertising and I hope circulation.

Yours very truly,
Fred Heryer

LINES FROM

THE STUDIO

Only two chances left to see "Janus" on Friday and Saturday, so don't miss this witty offbeat comedy. We'll be closed Monday through Thursday next week to mount our new show, but we beseech our luncheon guests to come back Friday. Now then, what to say about the great musical comedies on tap for this summer? Opening June 23, that feast of harmony, color, choreography and virtue triumphant "Little Mary Sunshine." A week later, batten down for the return of that boisterous romp "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum" with an almost entirely new cast. These two fantastic shows will rock the Studio in alternate weeks to Labor Day at $6 for dinner and show, $3 for show only. Now reserving through August!

FAMOUS ARTIST VISITS AREA

"Ever since I painted those interesting gnarled, twisted cypress trees in August of 1954, I've wanted to return and do it again and again," so said artist Richard Epperly of Oak Park who will paint in this area for the next few weeks.

After painting from coast to coast in the USA, twice in Mexico ... he painted in Italy, Spain, Balearic Islands and Morocco in 1956 and in 1962, by Volkswagen, toured and painted in Holland, France, Spain and the Canary Islands. It was his pleasure to stop in the off-the-beaten-path villages. In fall of 1966, he painted in England, Scotland and Ireland.

In 1954, from October 14 through November 15, the artist showed with the Artists Guild of America on Monte Verde & Ocean in Carmel.

Epperly is a versatile and happy artist who has a great love of beauty, which he tries to capture on his canvases. Not only are his landscapes, seascapes and still lifes excellent, his stature as a portraitist has steadily increased throughout the years.

During World War II the artist created likenesses in oil of the wife and two sons of Honorable Carlos P. Romulo, former Ambassador from the Philippines to the United States; these are now in their home in Manila.

The portrait in oil of Angus F. Mitchell, former president of the International Rotary, hangs in the Rotary office in Melbourne, Australia, home of Mitchell.

A life size oil of the late General Douglas Mac Arthur is hanging in the Chicago Athletic Club, gift of the late Paul Schulze.

An oil of the late Pope John XXIII, bestowing the blessing, was commissioned by Don Fernandez of River Forest, Illinois, who presented it to his wife as a memento of their papal audience.

In February of 1966, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril H. Brown of Chicago, presented Epperly's "La Lavendera" to the Union League Club of Chicago for their internationally famous art collection. This life size oil depicts a lovely young girl washing in the mountain stream as they have been doing for centuries in the Canary Islands.

Just before leaving Oak Park, the artist had a most unusual one-man exhibit ... a retrospect ALL PORTRAIT SHOW. This included works from 1934 through 1967 ... all media, charcoal, pencil, crayon, casein and oil from the infant to the successful prominent people in all walks of life. This was a subject of much favorable comment.

Mr. and Mrs. Epperly spent several weeks in the Pasadena area with relatives and friends before coming to Carmel. Miss Ann Edmunds, who makes her home in Carmel with her father, will join her friend, Richard Epperly as he tries to capture the beauty of this area on canvas for exhibit later in Chicago and environs.

Weygers' teaching is based primarily on the demonstration of every phase and facet of the sculpture arts, offering instruction in: making one's own tools, selecting sculpture material, lifting and transporting heavy materials, clay modeling and casting in plaster, duplicating form by means of instruments if desired. He is an experienced teacher and professional artist.

Crown Chamber Players In Project Outspan

by Margot Hyatt

Playing with a dramatic passion, fire and intensity seldom heard in chamber music, the Crown Chamber Players from the University of California at Santa Cruz last week presented a large, handsome audience at Sunset Auditorium with its first dividend from the Carmel Cultural Commission, co-sponsor of the event with Project Outspan.

Funded by the legislature last year as led by former Assemblyman Gordon Winston, Project Outspan extends the resources of the University into the service area of the Santa Cruz campus.

The group consisted of clarinetist Rosario Mazzeo, cellist William Van Den Burg and pianist Herbert Rogers. Mazzeo, of Carmel Highlands, was for many years featured soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and member of the Tanglewood-Berkshire faculty before his retirement last August. Van Den Burg, acting Professor of Music, Crown College, UCSC, trained in Holland, pupil of Casals and Alexanian, has been solo-cellist with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski and with the San Francisco Orchestra under Pierre Monteaux. Roger, lecturer in music, Cowell College, UCSC, product of the Philadelphia Conservatory and Juilliard School of Music, and awarded a Rockefeller Grant in 1958, has toured widely in the United States and European capitals as soloist or chamber group player.

The clarinet took a bit of getting used to, seeming to stand out from the flexible warmth of the cello and the delicacy of the piano in the Beethoven Trio in B flat major, op. 11. Mr. Mazzeo was much happier in the Martinu Sonatina for clarinet and piano in which he was not expected to blend and which allowed him to show that the clarinet could be a charming solo instrument.

The sensual qualities of the seductive Sonate pour violon-celle et piano by Debussy were defined by Van Den Burg in some of the lowest tones ever written for cello as well as other unusual sound effects which might have been invented by much later composers. The piano shared as well as supported the emotional animation of the music with the cello.

It was in the last number, the Brahms Trio in A minor, op. 114 for piano, clarinet and cello, that the group achieved the romantic union for which the music seemed to cry out. Without thought or need for subordination, each instrument was given its chance to feed the flames of the music which ended in stirring pyrotechnics.

Cole Weston, of the Carmel Cultural Commission, was in charge of arrangements for the warmly appreciated concert.

Mr. Mazzeo, a Carmel visitor since 1951, brought his beautiful wife and young daughter here last August and bought the "perfect house" for them in Carmel Highlands. He is secretary of the new Friends of Photography Center at Sunset, photography and birds having long been hobbies of his. For years while he lived in Boston, he said he used to subscribe to the Pine Cone which he said passed through the hands of half a dozen secretaries who were interested in the photographs and unusual name.

ART COUNCIL MEETING SET

A day-long conference on the creative arts sponsored by the Arts Coordinating Council of Monterey County in conjunction with the Salinas Community Arts Council and the San Benito Arts Council of Hollister is set for Wednesday, June 21, in the Monterey Savings and Loan Association's Community Room in the Estrada Adobe in Monterey.

The councils, which represent leading organizations and individuals in the field of the arts in their communities, have planned the conference with a three-fold purpose: to become acquainted with each other's operation and seek out ways of working together and with the California Arts Commission; to explore ways in which private organizations and local governmental agencies can assist one another in strengthening the cultural activities of their community; and to ask the advice of business leaders on improvements of arts management procedures and the importance of business and support of the arts in the community as a whole.

Jehovah's Witnesses To Hold Convention

A large delegation of Jehovah's Witnesses from the Monterey Peninsula will travel to San Jose next month to attend a district convention on July 13-16. An attendance of 10,000 is expected. The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, sponsors of the event, said that the convention will draw delegates from 121 congregations in 13 bay area counties. Forty-five such gatherings have been scheduled for the United States this summer.

New Dial Tone Sound

Telephone customers who call Carmel after June 16 may notice a different sound when they hear the phone they're calling begin to ring.

The reason, Dennis R. Mulkey, Pacific Telephone's local manager, explained, is a new ringing machine being installed in the Carmel central office.

While the machine will change the sound callers hear, the sound the phone makes when it rings in the home will remain the same, he added.

The old machine, Mulkey said, is outdated and difficult to repair. A similar new machine was installed in Monterey six weeks ago.

Linda Roberts Weds James Pruitt

Linda Frances Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Roberts of Carmel Valley and James Briggs Pruitt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Pruitt of Carmel, were married on June 10 in The Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel at a 5 p.m. ceremony. Bishop Joseph T. Smith of the LDS Church of San Jose officiated at the service.

For her wedding, Linda chose a floor length gown of peau-de-soie and reembroidered alencon lace styled in a Princess line with an alencon lace collar and long pointed sleeves. The detachable Watteau train was detailed with a wide panel of alencon lace banded with peau-de-soie. She carried a bouquet of baby white roses and baby breath.

Martha Roberts, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and Sue Simmons of Carmel Valley, Coral Hiller of Berea, Ohio, and Mrs. Joyce Lortz of Bakersfield were the attendants.

Warren G. Roberts, brother of the bride was the best man at the service and the ushers were David H. Roberts, another brother of the bride, Norman K. Lausten and Malcolm Bower both of Carmel.

One of the highlights of the wedding came when Warren Roberts sang a musical number which had been composed by the brides father, Donald Roberts.

The reception took place in the Fellowship Hall of the Church of the Wayfarer after the ceremony and the young couple then left for a wedding trip to Salt Lake City.

Linda and James plan to live in Austin, Texas where James will be attending the University of Texas. Both Linda and James are graduates of Carmel High School and Linda attended San Jose State College where she received her degree.

Byron Galloway Receives Degree

Byron Harry Galloway received a Bachelor of Arts degree during the graduation ceremonies at the University of Nevada during commencement exercises at the school on June 3.

Lifted high on the shoulders of his fellow employees is Kerman Alderson who was celebrating his 30 years with Nielsen Grocery this past week. Pictured with him are (L. to R.) Clyde Hendricks, Harold Nielson and Mervin Sutton. The celebration was held at the Rippling River Ranch in Carmel Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Deck Back From Mediterranean Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie C. Deck have recently returned from a 25,000 mile trip which included a cruise to the Mediterranean and Black Sea countries. They left here in April and were in time to visit Holland at the height of that country's flower season.

"We were in time to see the great flower auction which is held once a year and we got some wonderful slides and movies of the huge market where this event is held," Mr. Deck stated.

"The tulips were so lovely and you can't begin to imagine the different colors all mixed together," Mrs. Deck added.

The Deck's sailed from Rotterdam on May 6 on the SS New Amsterdam and visited such places as Malaga, Malta, Rhodes, Istanbul, Yalta, Haifa, Athens, Taormina, Messina, Lagos and Lisbon to mention a few.

"Some how or another we managed to miss all the trouble in Greece and the Middle East but even when we were in Jerusalem and Cairo things were very tense and we were happy to leave all in one piece," Mr. Deck said.

The Decks, who show different groups their travel films and are well known here for the high quality of their slides and movies, are glad to be back. "The weeds in the front yard did beautifully while we were away thanks to all the rain," Mrs. Deck said "but its so nice to be home again."

"We have started our plans for our next trip which will be sometime in September," Mr. Deck stated "when we will go to Ireland and some of the Scandinavian countries."

Joanne Nix In London

Mrs. Dudley (Joanne) Nix left this Monday for a month in London where she will study with Marian Lambard doing childrens ballet.

Sherri, Joanne's daughter, will take over Joanne's ballet classes while she is away. Sherri has just returned from a series of engagements at Harrah's Club in Nevada where she danced with the Smuthers Brothers Show and the Eddie Fisher Show.

Sherri will be here for several weeks before leaving for Southern California where she has had several offers for her dancing.

What Is An Antique?

Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, a freelance writer who lives in Palo Alto and Carmel, will begin a series of profiles featuring well known and interesting Carmel residents. These stories will be run every two weeks.

An antique is man's perfection of form and line — as mellow and warm as the light of a candle. An antique is man's interpretation of each ebb and flow that captures the spirit of its age. An antique is a piece of crystal, silver or jade from Parsons of Carmel.

Parsons reflects the great tradition of unhurried craftsmanship and unsurpassed quality that has been their trademark since the summer of 1933, when Wickieff (Wick) Parsons' mother, Vivian, and his sister, Mary Louise (Mrs. Harold E. Davis), first opened their shop at Lincoln on the North side of Ocean.

Wick, the son of a Fresno banker, a native Californian turned antique dealer, was sitting at his desk in a little back office. His pleasant bespectacled face carried the air of a man who is not going to be rushed. On the ring finger of his right hand was an oval of apple green jade which once rested on a velvet cushion in the Metropolitan museum of art.

"I suppose," he said, "I'm a collector at heart. It's that first moment of acquisition which brings the greatest thrill!" Jade is his favorite stone. Occasionally he discovers a rare find, and no amount of money can persuade him to sell it. One such item is "Ya Chang," a smooth jadite blade which has no handle that dates back from 1122 B.C. to 256 B.C. It was found long ago among the crown jewels of an empress in old China. About 20" long and 5" wide with a 1/4" depth, this priceless treasure, so it is said, was used as a symbol of power on an emperor's ascension to the throne. There are some historians who say that it was only displayed when troops were called to war.

Today, Parsons' collection represents about 15 to 18 countries, mainly Oriental and European.

"Anything before 1830 is considered antique," Wick informed me, "probably because more machines were available after that time." Shifting in his chair, he lit a cigar, and gave me a long, thoughtful look. "You can feel it. You can sense it," he said, "but no matter how long a man studies, or is in the business — he will never know all there is to know about antiques."

He believes that the novice shopper should make some study of antiques before he starts out on a buying spree. "There is no such thing as a 'Fortune in a Junk Pile', or 'Upstairs in Grandma's Attic. That's a pipe dream," he said. "People are just too knowledgeable today. One's greatest triumph, in most cases, comes when he chooses the best he can afford from a reputable dealer."

Continuing, Wick made a comparison that shows common sense. "It's the same when you're in trouble and need a lawyer, or perhaps you're ill and need a doctor. There's no substitute for know-how and experience."

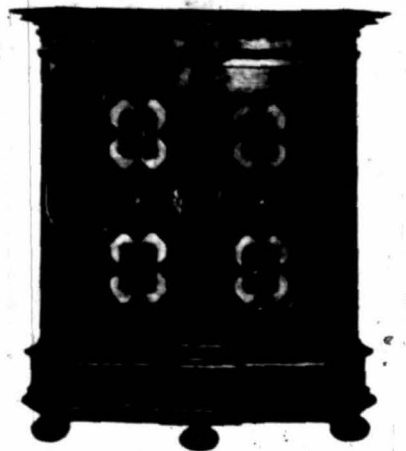

Wick told me that it took him exactly three days, five hours and two minutes to make up his mind to join his mother and sister, who had offered him a partnership in their Carmel antique business. "That was in December, 1945," he recollected. "I was young and fresh out of the army." After a tour of duty in New Guinea and the Philippines with the Medical Corps, he was eager to try his hand at the skills he had learned. "So swinging the world by the tail, I took off for San Francisco to seek my fortune! Frankly, my search didn't last very long. I stood in more lines there than I ever did in the army."

The people who deal with Wick know him for what he is — an old-time Carmelite with a sensitive passion for beauty, and a slow wide gaze that demands a perfection which holds no tolerance for mediocrity. His quiet dignity sets the mood for his relationships, and they all acknowledge his strong manifestation of kindness and a tranquil courtesy that is so natural to him.

It was a little after three o'clock when his attractive wife, Elsie, came drifting in from the post office. She hung up her coat, and accorded us a warm greeting. We chatted a few moments, then walked through the door that led to their shop.

At one end of the room my eyes caught hold of an exquisite Austrian commode, amazing in its beauty of workmanship. One's imagination could easily place it among the most notable collections of the past — beside a gothic figure from the Lunqua Salzburg; below the frescoes of the vaulted Mirror Hall in Schonbrunn palace; or perhaps in lovely Carinthia's

An 1805 Armoire (wardrobe) from Austria

Burg Hochsterwitz, used by Walt Disney for his "Snow White" castle.

Sharing my enthusiasm for the gracious, restful feeling of this commode, Mrs. Parsons exclaimed, "You know, Mary Louise is in Vienna today! She's on a buying trip. I hope she can find another something like it."

Wick Parsons looked up, his voice was sad. "She'd better work fast! In less time than it takes to buy it, man, once again, as he's done so many times before, may destroy the achievements of centuries — His thought. His work. His dreams. . . ."

Hungry Oak Worms

A representative of the Gardener's Friend dropped by the office a few days ago carrying what looked like a wild iris leaf with a busy little oak worm gnawing away at the plant.

He said that he never heard of an oak worm larva making lunch out of a plant of this nature. . . but the evidence was there. The leaf was drilled with holes where the larva had chewed.

What happened, evidently, was that the larva had gotten hungry after shearing the oak tree in the same yard, and had come down to eat anything that tasted good. The garden was saved, but sorry, the oak tree was too far gone to save.

"Everyone Cooks But Father"

For the King of the Family, let's start the morning off with Raisin Praline Coffee Cake and a king size cup of really good coffee. The rest of his day he should be able to do exactly what he chooses to . . . off on a fishing trip or golfing . . . whatever he prefers. But no cooking . . . that is, for him.

The lady of the household couldn't choose a more exciting or acceptable dinner for her family "king" than this special Father's Day mixed grill, juicy loin lamb chops, combined with stuffed mushrooms and pineapple slices; shredded escalloped potatoes with Western Zucchini. As for desert, why not bake a special Father's Day Cake? Now as we want to include all of these recipes, we must start right off with the directions:

Raisin Praline Coffee Cake

One and a half cups seedless raisins; 1/2 cup shortening; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 tsp. vanilla; 3 eggs; 2 cups sifted flour; 1 tsp. each, baking powder, soda, salt and 1 cup sour cream.

Chop raisins. Beat shortening, sugar and vanilla until fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, then raisins. Resift flour with baking powder, soda and salt; add to raisin mixture alternately with sour cream. Spread half the batter in greased and floured 10-inch tube pan. Sprinkle with half of Pecan Praline Mix; repeat layers. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 50 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool in pan 10 minutes; then turn out on rack. Makes 1 (10-inch) coffee cake.

Pecan Praline Mix: Rub together until mixed 1/3 cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 tps. cinnamon and 1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans.

Broiled Loin Lamb Chops

Six loin lamb chops, cut 2 inches thick; 1/2 cup salad oil; 1/2 cup dry red wine; 1 tsp. salad herbs; 1 clove garlic, crushed; dash of MSG powder; salt and pepper.

Blend oil, wine, herbs, garlic and MSG powder. Pour over lamb; marinate several hours, turning occasionally. Set oven regulator to broil. Place chop on broiling rack. Insert broiler pan till it is 3 inches from heat. When one side is browned, turn and douse other side with marinade and finish broiling. This will require about 22 minutes. Heat rest of marinade and pour over chops which have been put on a hot platter. Meantime prepare the Stuffed Mushrooms by washing and removing stems from 2 pints large fresh mushrooms. Reserve caps and chop stems; saute these with 2 tps. finely chopped onions in butter; add 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs with 1/2 cup finely chopped toasted unblanched almonds; cook very briefly. Stir in lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, salt and paprika to taste. Fill mushroom caps with stuffing. Place in shallow baking pan; broil until firm, then place these carefully on top of each chop, reserving the rest to serve separately. The halved pineapple slices have been brushed with butter and broiled along with the chops, the centers then filled with parsley. Crisp celery and carrot sticks go nicely with this de luxe offering of which Dad deserves his lion's share. (Amounts given should serve six, unless Father rates two chops!)

Shredded Escalloped Potatoes

Six large potatoes, 4 onions, grated; salt and pepper, 2 cups hot cream; 6 tpsps. grated cheese.

Peel potatoes and grate on a coarse vegetable shredder. Place in a colander and rinse off excess starch with hot water. Place in buttered baking dish with alternate layers of grated onion. Season each layer with salt and pepper. Pour heated cream over all, almost to top. Add more grated cheese. Cover and bake in 375 F. oven about 30 minutes; uncover and bake 10 more minutes to brown. Serves 6.

Western Zucchini

One fourth cup fresh bacon drippings or cooking oil; 1 lb. zucchini, sliced 1/4-inch thick; 1 green pepper, sliced; 1 clove garlic, crushed; 3 tomatoes, peeled and chopped but undrained; 1 tbsp. soy sauce, or to taste.

Heat bacon drippings in skillet. Add rest of ingredients. Toss and cover. Cook over very low heat until tender. Serves 6.

As Father has already had his coffee cake, why not give him a ripe piece of real French Camembert cheese with a choice of fruit, a large shiny red apple or juicy Anjou pear with hard toasted crackers and more of his favorite coffee? But if his young daughter insists that she wants to produce a cake, let it be old fashioned chocolate cake with fudge frosting, all from a mix, and to add to this delight, there is Kona coffee ice cream to top it off. Manana we'll all diet. And no chores for Pa on his day off.

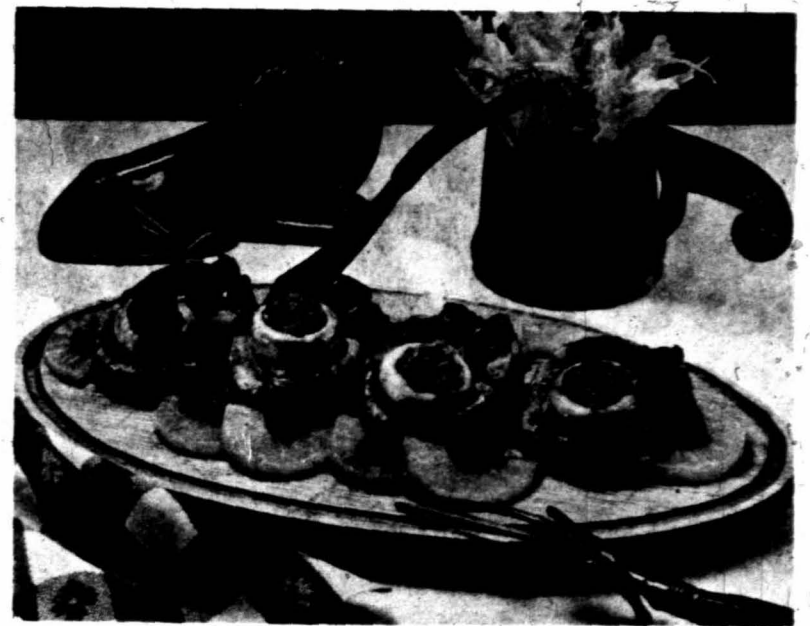

Tea and Talk at Town House

GARDENING IN THE FUTURE will be the subject of a talk and demonstration by Mr. John Goldring of Pebble Beach at the Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday June 14 at 3 p.m. Tea will be served at 4 p.m. and all interested persons are welcome.

Bermuda!! It had been a magic word from my childhood, as my mother told us about our twin Scotch ancestors, who were boat builders sailing to find the wonderful New America and being shipwrecked in the Bermuda Isles. They were one of the first families, and all inter-married, being known as "kissing cousins."

All of my married life my husband and I promised our son and daughter that we would take this trip, so in 1951, when my son was graduated from college and knew he was to go into the Army, we started making our plans. As none of us had ever left California, we planned in detail.

The middle of June, we left on the Daylight. That night we met at the station, and departed on the Sunset Limited. We traveled through Arizona and New Mexico and for one night through Texas! We arrived in New Orleans at 4 p.m., checked our luggage through to the L&N Crescent, and took a taxi to the French Quarter. By this time all the museums and historical spots were closed. We were in agony from the heat but that day the paper listed it as "a breather." We went to the Court of Two Sisters and had a mint julep, and then hastened to have an early dinner at Antoinette. Afterward, we only observed beggars and honkytonks so boarded our train early. Had we had a whole day there I am sure we would have found more to rave about.

The railroad was under repair and we bounced along through the South Eastern states. We awoke to observe some negroes tilling pathetic plots of land. We were asleep through Washington that night an awoke in Pennsylvania very early to see nothing but bricks from houses through streets. We had to dress in our compartments while peeking out, and was observed by early risers peeking back at us in amusement. We were late arriving. Had chosen the Commodore so we would be close to shops, my daughter and I tore off to get the trainfare soil out of our hair, and as it was the year of the famous war between Macy's and Gimbels, while purchasing some hosiery we were suspected of being comparison shoppers.

As we only had two nights there we had to take the children to unsophisticated and early dinner spots. Wanting to see a little of "The Village" we chose Cafe Society where Ella Fitzgerald was playing. The taxi driver got his kicks all the way by telling us to watch out for the dangerous men. As we lived near Carmel, we knew all the answers. We were the only people having dinner BEFORE the show, although Ella came out in time. The children wanted to do Eddie Condon but were turned down.

The second day we took the 3-hour cruise around Manhattan, and loved best the end where one looks up the Hudson. We walked near the UN and that night walked to the Lexington for an early dinner and first show of the Hawaiian.

The first morning the children took in the subway and then we went to the Automat for breakfast. As I cannot do anything mechanical I found a face looking out at me when I put my money in. We then embarked on The Queen of Bermuda. The first night was Bingo. The next day was gorgeous, and we got TOO burned. That night was dress up. We went dancing and met the Smith family. The children were just the right ages for ours, and we enjoyed the parents. The M.C. had apparently never been to Bermuda as he told us we would arrive at 9 a.m. At 6 a.m. my daughter and I awoke to the pungent odor of flowers and heat. Looking out the portholes we observed land. It seems that when St. Georges was the first Port, one arrived, but a "Kissing cousin" of mine discovered that if a tugboat would take people through the reefs they could land in Hamilton, a much more practical port, so one rides for a very long way seeing the islands all this time. The arrival was fantastic. Front St. and the policeman with his white umbrella di-

The Complete Gardener

... a regular diet of information having to do with plants

With rose shows in the offing, several readers have inquired as to any special cultural practices which might produce prize-winning, exhibition blooms. Top quality specimens are not difficult to grow, and roses are particularly suitable for exhibiting.

First of all, prize blooms must come from healthy, vigorous plants. Good soil is the first essential... and plenty of nourishment... and sufficient water. Keep the rosebushes growing with regular feedings. That's important. Insect control deals mostly with aphids, and rosebuds should be inspected frequently to detect infestations. If an aerosol insect bomb is used keep it 15 inches from the plant to avoid burning. Actually it's not the pesticide that does the damage, but the propellant gas, which freezes the plant cells. Spectracide is a preferred control for rose pests.

recting traffic. We went at once to Waterloo House. Our cousins had advised us on guest houses being more practical and local color better than American hotels. They were there waiting for us. You also have guest privileges at the beaches. We had chosen the Bermuda Plan which is a deluxe brunch and holds you till evening when we went to a different spot each night to see all.

The next morning we were the guest of our cousins, using their car and a taxi driven by a boy whom they had known from childhood. He gave us a review of all with the love he had for them.

Each day from then on we met the Smiths and lived up a storm of fun. Our cousins had us to a last dinner and took us to an underground cave that he had discovered as a boy and later sold to the government which is now a commercial spot. The night before the Smiths left we dressed up again and went to an exclusive hotel for fun. They flew out. We stayed a few more days and took the Queen back. On the return trip there wasn't a guest list, and people were tired, but we enjoyed it except for a storm that came up.

My son and daughter took dramatic pills and slept till the movie came on. My husband and I had a martini and curried rice and decided we were good sailors.

When we went through customs were were lucky we weren't in the present bind as we had bought like mad!

In preparing your rosebush for exhibition blooms you should place emphasis on directing strength into terminal buds on sturdy stems. This is done by disbudding. Most roses produce three or more buds on each stem. Remove those on the sides... the lower ones... and do this at the earliest possible stage. This prevents the secondary, or lateral, buds from competing for the nourishment coming up the stem. Regard the foliage, as well as the bloom, for sometimes a healthy set of leaves will sway the judges in your favor.

If your location has hot sun you might rig cheesecloth shades to keep the blooms from fading. Or berry baskets on stakes. Blooms hold up much better when they're cut the evening before the show and stored in a cool place. Take a bucket of water into the garden and select roses in various stages of maturity. Handle each specimen, one at a time, with care to avoid bruising. Some commercial vitamins or hormones in the water will help the blooms to hold up longer. Remove all traces of dust or spray spots from the leaves with soft cotton. Tag each variety (if you're not able to remember the names later).

Avoid showing roses with stems that are too long for the size of the bloom. And those that are too short for the container. When you're placing the specimen in its show container remove any foliage which might be below the water line. Last minute attention to small details will often be rewarded. Ah... the judges are approaching. Good luck!

A topic of importance in summertime gardening will occupy our column next week: mulching.

Monterey County Backs Government Subsidy

The Housing Authority of the County of Monterey is currently processing its application for participation in the leased housing program as authorized by the U. S. Housing Act of 1965.

The program, sometimes referred to as the Section 23 Leasing Program, has been approved for use by the Board of Supervisors for the unincorporated areas of the County and the City Council of Seaside.

Approval of the application will enable the Housing Authority to work with local realtors and property owners to help provide private housing for low-income and elderly families. Under this program, the Housing Authority will lease single-family residences and apartment units for a period of one to five years and in turn rent them to families within established low-income limits. Through a subsidy from the Federal Government, the Housing Authority will pay the difference between the existing market rentals and the amount the tenant can afford to pay. In addition, a long-term lease could provide the basis for financing to rehabilitate existing substandard dwelling units in the County to acceptable standard condition. On long-term leases the Housing Authority could assume responsibility for maintenance and loss of income due to vacancies.

Federal Housing Assistance Administration procedures require the Housing Authority to survey and list standard available unfurnished residences and apartment units in the entire County. This survey will be conducted by telephone and will attempt to contact as many private rental unit owners as possible.

Dear Sir:

Please consider this my application for a job. Although I'm a big healthy fellow and will do a mah's work, I ask only a boy's wage. I'll work for about $12.50 a week, and if you give me the job, I'll stay on it as long as you need me.

I'll agree never to ask for a raise—in fact, I would not accept an increase even though you might consider me entitled to one. I'm thrifty, and will promise to save the biggest part of my salary. I'll promise that, if you are ever hard pressed, I'll loan you all my savings.

Here is the job that I will do. If you should be taken out of the picture entirely, I'll buy shoes and clothes, pay the grocery bills, and pay the rent for the ones you love. I will see that these things are taken care of in their entirety.

In addition, I'll promise that your family and the ones you love will never want for the comforts of life.

Every Christmas, I'll make sure that Santa Claus comes to your house and leaves the things that bring happiness to those loved ones you have left behind. Of course I can't do this in person but I will send along the memories of a thoughtful and devoted person.

If nothing happens to you along the way, and it is time for you to retire and enjoy the real comforts of life, and you feel you do not need my services any longer—I'll say, "THAT'S ALL RIGHT BOSS, I'VE ENJOYED WORKING FOR YOU ALL OF THESE YEARS." Now to show my appreciation, I'll take care of you for the rest of your life.

All of these things I will promise to do for you—and all I ask is that you put me on the payroll for about $12.50 a week.

Kindest regards,
Sincerely yours,

Sun Life

Honors Highlight 15th Graduation At Stevenson

Some 54 Seniors and 32 eighth graders (Lower School) were honored at the 15th annual graduation ceremonies of the Stevenson School held last Friday in the traditional out-door "Little Theatre."

In addition to diplomas and scholarship honors, there were several special awards and athletic trophies presented to the assembly of parents, students and friends of R.L.S.

Following a long standing custom at the school, the keynote speech was given by a father of a graduating Senior, Mr. William M. Barlow. Mr. Barlow, who is a member of the Advisory Council at R.L.S. stressed the "monumental achievement of Robert U. Ricklefs in building this school at such a rapid pace" and then went on to challenge the Class of 1967 to accept the exciting challenges of the coming decades.

Speaking on behalf of the students, retiring student body President Larry Kuechler gave a demanding oration in which he compared the "Decline of Rome" to some tendencies in America today, and asked his classmates if they had the "courage to face this challenge of American leadership." His final words, summing up his theme, were: "Caesar tried to change men with institutions. Christ tried to change institutions by changing men."

On behalf of the Senior Class, Rick Bessom (who originally came to the school some 7 years ago) gave the "Favorite Teacher" award to Mr. Robert Peterson, director of music.

In welcoming parents Headmaster and President, Robert U. Ricklefs emphasized that this was "the greatest year yet" in school history with more awards, honors, and academic achievements than ever before which is, he noted "fitting for a growing school." Mr. Ricklefs also cited two retiring teachers: Mrs. Mary Beall Bowhay, who has been with the school for 8 years, and Capt. W. C. "Dutch" Schultz, who has taught physics since 1957.

The Stevenson Glee Club presented "A Hymn of Freedom" while Junior student Robert Howard played the processional.

Assisting Mr. Ricklefs in passing out diplomas and awards were assistant Headmaster Frank B. Keith, Director of Athletics Richard Zury, and Dean of Men Edward Brown. The Rev. C. E. "Coach" Wilson gave the benediction and invocation, as he has done for the past nine years.

several months. Will Medicare help pay for this equipment?

A. Yes. The medical insurance part of Medicare provides reimbursement for the rental of durable medical equipment such as crutches, wheelchairs, and hospital beds for use in the patient's home. If a beneficiary rents durable medical equipment, the rental charges will be covered for as long as the equipment is medically necessary. If this period is long enough, and the supplier of the equipment credits the rental payments toward the cost of purchase, then it is possible that the beneficiary may acquire ownership of the equipment even though it has been paid for with rental charges.

It should be emphasized, however, that the medical insurance program will make payments only on the basis of reasonable rental charges and only for the period during which the equipment is medically necessary. It will not, for example pay for both the rental charges and any additional purchase price amount that may be due because only part of the rental charges counted toward the purchase price.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

The responsive reading is from Psalms and includes these verses: "All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord. . . . They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power."

Point Lobos May Be A National Landmark

Congressman Burt L. Talcott announced that he had been advised by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall that the advisory Board on National Parks, Historic Sites, Buildings and Monuments has recommended Point Lobos Reserve for inclusion in the National Registry of Natural Landmarks.

The purpose of the registry is to encourage the preservation and protection of related natural sites, irrespective of administration or ownership. Participation in the program is on a voluntary basis and ownership of the area does not change. Official designation as a Registered Natural Landmark is conditioned upon application by the owner to the National Park Service for a bronze plaque and certificate.

Since Point Lobos Reserve includes 356 acres owned by the State of California, Congressman Talcott has written to Governor Reagan requesting that the Governor apply for certification.

In his letter to the Governor, Mr. Talcott said, "The project had my full endorsement since this spectacular coastline shelters a variety of rare plants and animals."

Described as the world's "greatest meeting of land and water," Point Lobos dramatically displays scenic grandeur of the Nation's west coast.

Erwin Trittschuh obit head ERWIN Trittschuh

Erwin M. Trittschuh, a resident of Carmel for the past 10 years, died on June 10 at his home after a period of failing health. He lived with his wife Louise E. Trittschuh at El Camino and 3rd streets in Carmel.

Mr. Trittschuh was born on June 24, 1899 in Versailles, Ohio. He was a member of the Antioch Lodge, F and AM. He was also a member of the Scottish Rite Body of Dayton, Ohio. He was the sales manager from 1947 to 1960 for Pacific Coast Aggregates.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Janet Dalbello of Santa Barbara, and a sister, Mrs. Emily Schilling, Versailles, Ohio. He is also survived by four brothers, Albert, Walter, Lawrence and Louis all of Versailles. He leaves two grandchildren, Ann and Paul Dalbello of Santa Barbara.

Private graveside services were held on Tuesday at El Carmelo Cemetery in Pacific Grove, with Reverend David Hill of the All Saint's Episcopal Church officiating. The Mission Mortuary was in charge of the arrangements.

Carmel Residents Elected To Theatre Posts

Four Carmel residents will hold official positions during the 1967-68 season of the Naval Postgraduate School Little Theatre.

Cdr. J. C. Hale, USN (ret.) of Hatton Fields is the new president of the six-year old thespian group at the Monterey school.

The feminine lead for Carmel's upcoming anniversary production of "Pipe Dream," Mrs. Lollie Schwabe, is the new Little Theater secretary. Her husband, Lt. j.g. William Schwabe, is a student at the Postgraduate School.

Another Carmel resident, Mrs. Beverly Pelton, will serve on the Board of Directors as Director of Properties. And, Mrs. Jacqueline Veske, who lives at Ninth and Casanova, will be publicity director.

Cdr. Hale, who has been retired here for several years, has appeared in Little Theater productions of "A Man for All Seasons," and "South Pacific." He points out that membership in the group is open to any Postgraduate School student dependents, retired Navy personnel, civilian employees of the school and other military connected persons in the area.

Drivers Must Be 18 Years Old

Teen-agers, sixteen and seventeen, can't be issued drivers' licenses by the Department of Motor Vehicles after June 30th unless they have completed driver education and training. The rule includes youthful holders of six-month learning permits. This "last warning" was issued by DMV director Verne Orr on the eve of the effective date of a law passed in 1965.

"As nearly every teen-ager knows," said Orr, "after June 30th his 16th birthday will no longer be the qualifying age for an automobile driver's license unless he has met the classroom and behind-the-wheel driver training requirements now prescribed in the Vehicle Code. To get a driver's license without such training he has to be 18 years old."

ON THE OCEAN'S EDGE

An artist's home, complete with studio. Oriental decor, with fascinating wall coverings, hardware, millwork, etc. Beautiful walled entry court, and on the West, the sculpture and landscaping are strictly by Nature — tide pools, granite rocks, fabulous sea birds, and always the sea in its changing moods. The studio (guest house?) is perched on the rocks, a vantage point par excellence for participating in the great drama of the sea. Priced at $99,500. Our pleasure to show it to you.

SPINNING WHEEL CHARM

Cozy 3-bedroom house with an early American flavor on a level, wooded ¼ acre in Rancho Mar Monte. Especially if you like living in a peaceful spot in a quiet, tasteful home, plan to see this custom-built stucco with shake roof, plastered, complete kitchen built-ins including barbecue, central heat, double garage, fine carpeting. A house which says charm and comfort from the moment you open the door. Priced comfortably, too — only $49,500. We love to show this beautifully kept home.

A FINE FAMILY HOME

In a fine family neighborhood near Carmel High School. It's a wonderfully flexible plan: 3 or 4 bedrooms and a large family room; or perhaps you'd see the lower level (a fireplace here, too) as a separate apartment for your in-laws or married child. The condition of the house is immaculate — even better than new! — and you could move in without "doing things" first. Fine family recreation programs at the High School and many activities for all age children for the summer. For $49,500, it would be hard to find a similar house with a similar panoramic valley view.

FOR SALE: SMALL DOG, FURNITURE, GAS DRYER. 394-0303.

We had waited. A little while ago—the telephone rang and then some people had come. They had looked at the furniture and shook their heads. He had wagged his tail furiously and barked. But they hadn't glanced at him. They hadn't noticed.

Again the telephone rang. More people came. This time they took the gas-dryer away, that warm thing that he had sometimes lain beside when he was cold. He had sat close, ears cocked, eyes alight, but none spoke to him.

He knew he wasn't wanted. A long time ago, someone had loved him, someone who had been kind. An when he was new and crying for his mother, she had taken him in her arms and held him until he had fallen asleep. And then, he couldn't remember when, some people had carried her away. She had not returned. Somehow, he had known she wouldn't.

He had been brought to this house. They fed him sometimes, if they remembered but he didn't mind being hungry. He tried to stay close to the baby and he didn't care when his ears and his tail were pulled because often they snuggled together on the floor and fell asleep.

But now, strange things were happening. Chairs and beds were being taken away and the house was soon empty.

"I can't take the dog," said the master. "there's no room in the car."

He had tried to make himself smaller and looked at them, brown eyes pleading.

"But the baby likes to play with him," said the mistress.

"He'll forget the dog in a day," laughed the master.

The car was packed. He tried to crawl inside but the man pushed him away. The doors slammed and they started off slowly.

He was frightened now and tried to follow. He ran fast but it was of no use.

For a long time he sat at the side of the road, waiting. Perhaps they would come back. Cars passed quickly but none stopped.

He returned to the house. All was quiet.

It was getting dark now and he was cold. Soon it began to rain.

The small dog huddled closer against the door.

approval but made it clear that this did not concern them as much as the fact that the preamble states "Carmel is definitely a residential rather than commercial community," and that spot zoning would go against the grain of the preamble. They were also skeptical about whether this ordinance, after approved, would handle all those lodging houses which come out of the "woodwork."

Although the two City bodies disagree on which would be best, they did agree that the general attitude of the public was to let the existing lodging houses remain as they are today, but not allow expansion of these motels.

At several points during the discussion, Attorney Burleigh said, "If the two solutions are the same, why not choose the one that will keep the city away from litigation." He made this statement based on what Whittlesey said earlier, "You can't force the owners to apply for a use permit."

The Commission made it clear that they do not plan to get into any legal problems because they are not asking the lodging houses to apply immediately. They want to leave them as they are and when they get ready to remodel it will be necessary, under present laws, to take out a use permit.

The Councilmen were warned by Willox, "You'll find you will have made an awful mistake if you allow spot zoning."

The whole discussion boiled down to this in either case (use permit or spot zoning) eventually the lodging houses will have to come to the Planning Commission when they wish to remodel.

Spot zoning, according to the Council, will "wipe the slate clean" and will give the owners the feeling of being legal, which they would be after such an ordinance is passed. Under a use permit, according to Commissioners, they would also be recognized and be allowed to operate.

With use permits the entire matter would be put into the hands of the Commission, whereas, if spot zoned, each time another lodging house wished to be rezoned, it would require a meeting of the Council, public hearing, legal notices, etc. The Council, realizing this, felt that after the years pass, and the Council and Planning Commission members change, each motel, individually, might not be handled with the discretion that prevails today.

Now that both bodies have met and discussed the problem at length, it is presently up to the City Council to do what they wish... to spot zone or issue use permits.

part of our agenda" and hoped that at the next regular board meeting that "we can discuss the possibility of starting such a program."

In other action by Board members, Frederic E. (Buzz) Rainer, popular English teacher at Carmel High School for the past 12 years, was granted a leave of absence without pay for the 1967-68 school year with the proviso that he inform the district of his intentions by February 1, 1968 as to whether he wanted to take another year to teach at the American School in Athens, Greece.

Nine new teachers were granted employment last night and they include: Miss Carol Sielaff, girls counselor at Carmel High School; Miss Crystal Gips, english teacher at Carmel High School; Miss Pat Mewhinney, english teacher at Carmel High School; Nick Zanides, english, speech and drama teacher at Carmel High School; Mrs. Dolores Dresser, english teacher at Carmel Middle School; Miss Julie Isaacson, english and french teacher at Carmel Middle School; Carl C. Schmuck, mathematics teacher, Carmel Middle School; Miss Sandra Sanders, elementary teacher; and Mrs. Majorie Steinmetz, school nurse for the first semester of the 1967-68 school year.

In other matters approved by the Board, the night depository agreement was reached with the United California Bank; the renewed agreement for audio-visual services from the County was approved; the appointment of the 1966-1967 auditor was agreed upon, and the eligibility of part-time employees for health insurance was approved.

that proclaimed the house on San Antonio as "The Getaway."

The sign will be given to the present owners, Dr. and Mrs. John F. Murray of Fresno. The Murrays will be present for the ceremonies, and will host the gathering at an informal open house in "The Getaway" later.

Russell B. Hearst of Chicago, the executive officer of the fraternity, is expected to take part in the dedication, and may call attention to the names of the great and near-greats who visited the "muckraker" when he lived here between 1927 and 1936.

The bronze plaque will call attention to visitors of the future that Steffens lived here. It will bear this inscription: "Historic site in journalism. Honoring Lincoln Steffens, 1866-1936. Here in 'The Getaway' the greatest of the muckrakers passed the later years of a full and vibrant life. Dedicated June 17, 1967."

Pete Steffens and Dr. Murray will accept the plaque on behalf of the citizens of Carmel and the Monterey Peninsula. Dr. Kenneth Stewart from UC in Berkeley and F. K. Arthur, Jr., Monterey editor and publisher, also will take part.
